

WAKING UP IN THE SAME HOUSE

Memories I had forgotten and stains that never came clean
A dirty mirror hung on the wall.
Reflecting on another bad dream.
Those memories followed me everywhere.
From my first step upward, stair after stair.
Past room after vacant room, seeking someplace familiar.
Before invading the darkness of my dream.